BLAIRMORE AND BELLEVUE HOMING PIGEON CLUB

In a recent competition, J. Hurkot, of Blairmore was declared winner of the Trono challenge cup.

The fifth race for 1929 flown from Waterways, Alberta, 565 miles airline, on June 22nd. This race was for the old birds' championship, for which Mr. S. Trono's cup is the trophy.

Liberated at 3:35 a.m. on June 22nd, meeting hall during the 505-mile flight, Hurkot's birds clocked in at 6:42.10 the next morning. E. Leskoski, second to arrive, clocked in at 9 a.m., while the third, N. Sandulak's, clocked in at 1:30 p.m. on the 23rd.

The prizes for the flight were donated by Mr. T. Duncan, of the Greenhill hotel; the Meadow Sweet Dairies Ltd., and Mr. W. Johnson, of Plunkett & Savage Co.

APPRECIATION

At the annual meeting of the Crows' Nest Pass Musical Festival, a vote of thanks was tendered to The Enterprise for printing 100 copies of the annual financial statement of the 1929 festival, was moved by J. E. Upton and seconded by Wm. Kerr and carried, the general applause indicated the unanimous appreciation.

Ray Olson, fugitive killer of two deputy sheriffs, was shot to death near Cable, Wis., on Thursday.

SARTORIS-ASCHACHER

The marriage of Miss Enes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Aschacher, of Blairmore, to Peter, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sartoris, also of Blairmore, took place at St. Patrick's church, Lethbridge, on Monday morning of this week, Rev. Father P. A. Bergin officiating.

The bride was attractive in a tailored ensemble of rose with white accessories, and carried a corsage of roses. She was attended by Miss Elsie Sartoris, sister of the groom, who wore a smart navy blue silk suit with rose corsage and white accessories. The groom was supported by Mr. Peter Bodio, cousin of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a luncheon was served in a private dining room at the Marquis hotel, with a number of friends being present, including Mrs. Aschacher, mother of the bride, and Miss Mary Miro, both of Blairmore.

Early Tuesday morning the newly married couple motored to Pincher Creek to be joined by the bride's sister, Miss Nancy Aschacher, whose marriage to Mr. Frank Svoda, of Hillcrest, took place that morning at Blairmore, with Rev. Dean M. A. Harrington officiating. The two couples are enjoying a trip over the Logan Pass highway to Kailispell, and are due to return to Blairmore and Hillcrest this week end.

TOMORROW WILL BE BLAIRMORE'S GALA DAY

As we go to press there is every indication of the weather man being prepared to grant favors to Blairmore for the biggest sports day in its history on tomorrow, July 1st.

All is in readiness for the starting gong at 10 a.m. Final preparations were made at a well attended meeting on Friday last of the Blairmore Community Sports Association.

Among the open events will be the one-mile foot race; 100 yards; hop, step and jump; 880 yards dash; running high jump; running broad jump; 220 yards dash; and other events in which boys and girls and adults will compete.

General events include the 2½-mile marathon, open to boys under 19, for the Billy Royle cup; one-mile junior bicycle race, open to boys under 19, for the Trono challenge cup; baseball and softball, horseshoe pitching and quoiting, etc.

We understand that practically all parts of the province from Edmonton south will be represented, including Calgary, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Taber, Magrath, Cardston, Hillspring and Pincher Creek in the south. Art and "Bun" Maisey, well known Calgary athletes, will be here, also R. Mayhew, famous marathoner, also of the cow town. Bob Surridge, intercollegiate 100-yard champion, will be here from Calgary.

Baseball entries include Coleman, Hillcrest, Blairmore and Hillspring; softball: Burmis, Lundbreck, Thompson's Cards, Bellevue and Hobson's Rustlers; for pee wee: Maroons, Beavers and Squawkers.

The children's races will start promptly at 10 a.m., the procession to be led to the grounds by the West Canadian Galleries' band, which will be on hand throughout the day.

This meet is recognized and sanctioned by the Alberta Branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, who will have officials present.

Tonight (Friday) is dance night in connection with this year's Dominion Day sports celebration. Dancing starts at 9 p.m. in the Columbus hall, and the popular Arcadians dance band will furnish the music.

We are asked to remind those who intend to enter in the horseshoe and quoits competitions at the big celebration at the sports field tomorrow, that entries must be made in pairs.

OPPOSITION TO ABERHART ORGANIZES PERMANENTLY

At a largely attended meeting of men and women of the new Pincher Creek-Crows' Nest Pass provincial constituency, held at Cowley last night, it was decided to form a permanent organization to be known as the Pincher Creek-Crows' Nest Pass Independent-Labor Association, embodying in its membership all who are opposed to the Aberhart administration and Social Credit.

Officers elected were: R. E. Donkin, Frank, president; John Kerr, Passburg, first vice-president; L. Nicholson, Cowley, second vice-president; A. Noel Cox, Lundbreck, secretary; E. C. Coestick, Bellevue, treasurer, plus a committee representing all parts of the constituency.

Work of organizing the constituency will commence as soon as a platform will have been submitted and approved.

The meeting was representative of all factions other than Social Credit, including Liberal, Labor, Conservative, U.F.A. and C.C.F.

The meeting was presided over by C. J. Bundy, of Cowley, with F. T. Edwards, of Pincher Creek, acting as secretary.

A meeting of the new executive will be held in a few days.

C. N. P. MUSICAL FESTIVAL ELECT OFFICERS FOR 1940

At the annual meeting of the Crows' Nest Pass Musical Festival, held in the Greenhill hotel on June 23rd, at 8 p.m., the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Farmer, presented the financial report for the recent festival. Copies of this printed report have been mailed to all members, advertisers and subscribers. The president, Mr. Geo. E. Cruickshank, expressed his appreciation of the financial help given by all subscribers. The gate receipts were larger this year, due to fine weather and the fine representation of Fernie guests, who attended in large numbers. The year showed a net profit of $46.40.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

Hon. President, Rev. W. T. Young, Edmonton.

Hon. Vice-President: Mrs. D. G. Mackenzie, Calgary.

MANITOBA WEEKLY PRESS WANT RAIL TAX REVEALED

Publishers of Manitoba weekly newspapers, in convention at Winnipeg last week, passed a resolution calling on the government to levy a direct tax to recover the Canadian National Railways' deficit.

The purpose of this is "so that the cost of the present method of operation be brought more forcibly to the attention of the taxpayers of Canada."

A visit of inspection to the Blairmore tourist campsite right now would well repay anyone interested. Since taken over by Mr. Koentges, many improvements have been effected and much money has been spent. Several two and three-room bungalows have been built, all modernly furnished. These, although equipped with stoves for moderate cooking purposes, can be served by a large general kitchen. Considerable plumbing is being installed, partly in connection with an elaborate system of shower baths. Excavation has been made for the foundation and basement of a residence to be erected for the management, Mr. and Mrs. Koentges.

Cancer: The Killer

Tuberculosis, once the most insidious of diseases to which human flesh was heir, has been brought within control in Canada within the past decade as a result, not only of improved technique in the treatment of cases, but more largely because of the general and widespread adoption of better preventive methods, including a rigid system of inspection of contacts and potential contacts. As a menace to human life tuberculosis is on the way out.

Now the fight is on throughout the Dominion to reduce to a similar degree of impotence that most dreaded foe of the middle aged and the elderly—cancer.

As most people now know cancer is near the head of the list of the as yet unconquered diseases which take a heavy, and in its progress a painful, toll of humankind in this and in other civilized countries of the world. At present it is a more difficult enemy to subjugate than tuberculosis for several reasons. One of these is the fact that the cause of cancer has not yet been determined. If it is the work of a germ, and medical science is doubtful about that, the microbe responsible has not been found and isolated. For that reason cancer is not subject to medical treatment. There is no known drug which will prevent, control or cure this terrible disease, despite the claims of quackery.

Another difficulty in prosecuting a war on cancer is the fact that its presence may be unsuspected by the victim until it is too late for treatment to be effective. As a general rule it is painless in the early and curative stages. For that reason early diagnosis is absolutely imperative, for later, the chance of effecting a cure becomes progressively more remote.

Education Needed

This means that if the disease is to be brought within control a public campaign of education to make the public aware of the symptoms which may or may not indicate the presence of cancer before it is too late for effective treatment, and of the necessity of seeking medical advice without delay at the first suspicion that something is wrong, is essential.

Arguments have been advanced against the now generally approved plan of the medical profession to make the public cancer-conscious on the ground that people are likely to be frightened, but as has been pointed out by more than one authority, fear has been one of the deterrents against early diagnosis. Many have failed to consult their medical advisers until too late because it might mean an operation and they were afraid of an operation.

"You are going to frighten the people to death," complained one critic to the late Lord Moynehan, British cancer expert, at the close of one of his lectures on cancer. "I am trying to frighten them into life," replied Lord Moynehan. "I never heard of anyone dying of fear but thousands who might have been saved are dying of cancer."

While this educational campaign among the public has only been under way for a few years on this continent there is reason to believe that it is already having some effect and that some lives have been saved which would otherwise have been lost.

Results In Evidence

Evidence in support of this statement was recently given by Dr. Frank E. Adair in the bulletin of The American Society for the Control of Cancer, an organization which is spending $100,000 a year in its educational campaign. Some of the results reported by Dr. Adair are as follows:

1. A study of 750 patients with cancer of the breast, skin, mouth, rectum and uterus showed that 75 per cent. of the cancers had left the original site and had spread to the lymph nodes. A similar study four years later of 900 such cases showed a decrease from 75 per cent. to 66 per cent. that had gone to the lymph nodes.

2. In a study recently made in one hospital, it was found that in 1920, 54 per cent. of the cases of breast cancer arrived too late to be operated on, while seventeen years later, in the same hospital, only 31 per cent. of the cases arrived too late to be operated on.

3. A study completed only recently showed that the average age for women who came to the doctor with cancer of the breast, from 1920 to 1928, was 54.3 years. A study made in the same hospital on the breast cancer cases arriving from 1930 to 1936 showed an average age of 53.1 years.

4. A recent study of the size of the cancers removed at operation showed that 71 per cent. were over one inch in diameter, while in the same institution five years later, only 68 per cent. were over one inch in diameter.

5. Another study, recently made, showed that in one hospital the cancer patients were arriving with cancers so small that it was necessary to make a biopsy (an excision for microscopic study) in three times as many cases as was necessary 15 years earlier when cancers were larger and the diagnosis consequently easier.

Hope For The Future

To those who appreciate the dread character of this disease and the importance of early diagnosis the foregoing evidence must be very heartening, for not only does it indicate that already some results from public education are being achieved but also that much greater results can be attained as the scope of the educational campaign is widened.

The extent to which results can be achieved, and the rapidity with which they can be achieved, will be determined by the amount of money which is made available for the continuance and extension of the campaign.

Japanese Dancers

Public Performers Seek Other Work Since Outbreak Of War

The Japan Times Weekly says the taxi dancers in Tokyo and elsewhere have been decreasing in number since the outbreak of the China trouble. Half their number are supposed to have given up their jobs and turned to other lines for their living. Before the country had passed under wartime conditions the best dancers used to earn more than 600 yen a month. The highest earning figure nowadays is less than 60 yen.

This situation may be explained chiefly on the ground of dancing being under a cloud. The police believe that men and women should not be dancing when men are fighting out in China. The official mind refuses to draw distinction between frivolity and pleasure.

Switzerland Plays Safe

Has Never Depended Entirely On Other Nations For Defense

In 1815 the perpetual neutrality of Switzerland and the inviolability of its territory were guaranteed by Austria, Great Britain, Portugal, Prussia and Russia, but the Confederation has never neglected what its people regarded as adequate military defense, and to-day they are not unmindful of the dangers that beset small nations. To strengthen the Army the Parliament readjusted the national service program last month, and it is significant of popular feeling that the measure accomplishing this was allowed by the people to become effective without a referendum.

A few years ago such acquiescence in a statute imposing further duties on the people would have been inconceivable in a country where the referendum is resorted to freely. A referendum was held recently on a rearrangement of public works plan the cost of which was put at $90,000,000. The vote was 44,000 in favor of the expenditures against 109,000 in opposition. The sum to be expended under this authorization amounts to almost four-fifths of the total budget estimates for 1937.—New York Sun.

SELECTED RECIPES

RAISIN NUT SPICE CAKE

(Two Eggs)

2 1/2 cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
2 1/2 teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon mace
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/2 cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, unbeaten
1/2 cup molasses
1/2 cup milk

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and spices and mix together three times. Cream butter thoroughly, add sugar gradually, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each. Then add molasses and blend. Add flour, alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, beating after each addition until smooth. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes, or until done. Spread Raisin in Nut Filling between layers and Lemon Butter Frosting on top and sides of cake.

Raisin Nut Filling
1/4 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
4 teaspoons butter
2 teaspoons water
1/2 cup broken walnut meats, toasted
1/2 cup cut seeded raisins
4 teaspoons cream or rich milk (about)

Heat sugar, butter, and water in skillet, and cook until mixture forms a soft ball in cold water (236 degrees F.). Remove from fire; add nuts and raisins. Add cream until of right consistency to spread. Make enough filling to spread between 2 9-inch layers.

A Good Description
Young Mr. Benderbury landed home late from a whist drive. He brought a prize—a large oil lamp. He handed it proudly, if unsteadily, to his sister.

"It's so like you," said his sister, and Mr. Benderbury looked pleased. Then she continued: "It's good looking and wants a lot of attention; unsteady on its legs, and when half-tilted inclined to explode; flares up occasionally; out at bedtime, and smokes too much."

Western Agriculture

Why Wheat Is Necessarily The Staple Crop In The West

The farmers of Western Canada grow more wheat than any other crop for the simple but sound reason that wheat does better in many areas than any other farm plant that will grow on the prairies. Wheat is a drought-resistant plant and the prairies are regions of comparatively light rainfall, so that year in and year out wheat will yield more pounds of dry matter than any other grain.

The suggestion is often advanced that more flax should be raised in the west. It is true that the production of flax has declined in Western Canada, but there are good reasons for that. When the prairies were first broken the weed problem was non-existent. With each passing year the numbers and varieties of weeds have increased and the flax plant cannot compete with weed life nearly as effectively as wheat. Again, there are no large world markets for flax, and a comparatively small increase in production would soon flood all available markets.

There is an alternative to wheat growing which has been recommended by the ablest minds among technical agriculturists, and that is the restoring of a portion of each farm to grass. Admittedly this process will not bring immediate returns in the way of cash as would the continuous production of wheat, but it will tend to rest and preserve the land and restore in some measure the fertility.

The average farmer knows that he cannot go on producing wheat on his land year after year. Each crop takes certain fertility out of the soil and this must be restored or the yields will go down, and in time the farm will become worthless. The problem of restoring fertility to western acres must be solved sooner or later. Much of the farm land in the west has been cropped from quarter to a half of a century and the days of big yields have departed.—Calgary Herald.

Vast Game Areas

Parties planning a hunting trip would be well advised to investigate what Canada offers the hunter. Her more than 1,000,000 square miles of forest shelter practically every species of wild game native to this continent, while countless lakes and sloughs are the nesting grounds of wild ducks, geese and other game birds.

Message From The King

His Majesty Has Praise For The Boy Scouts In Canada

Highly commendation of the fine appearance of the many Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs who played a part in the royal tour arrangements has been received at Ottawa from King George.

In a message to the governor-general, Lord Tweedsmuir, Chief Scout for Canada, for the Boy Scouts' Association, the King wrote:

One of the pleasantest features of my tour through Canada has been the sight of the strong contingents of Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs in all parts of the Dominion. I have been greatly struck not only by their numbers, but by their smart appearance and fine physique. These boys are indeed a credit to Canada and to the Boy Scout movement, the value of which both you and I know so well.

As Chief Scout for Canada would you please convey to all members of the association my warm thanks for the good work they have done in connection with my visit and my congratulations on the way in which they are maintaining the Scout tradition in this great country. I wish them all the best of luck. I am,

Yours very sincerely,
GEORGE VI.

Porcupine Prospectors

Gold Was Found In The District In 1896, Says Geologist

Porcupine "Prospectors' Association" has arranged celebrations to commemorate the 30th anniversary of the first gold discovery in the Porcupine district, but a letter received indicates that at least one man knows of the presence of gold in the district 43 years ago.

The letter was from E. M. Burwash, prominent Toronto geologist, who said the Ontario Bureau of Mines detailed him to geological exploration of the area in 1896. At that time, Burwash saw "white veins of quartz" carrying small amounts of free gold.

The retired scientist said the only known inhabitants of the Porcupine area in 1896 were an Indian chief called Buffalo and a Scot named Angus McLeod, who lived in an abandoned Hudson's Bay Company post. McLeod was married to one of Chief Buffalo's daughters and never returned to "civilization" except for six months at Sault Ste. Marie; then little more than a trading post.

The King Book will interest, amuse, educate and prove valuable to both adult and child. The makers of Bee Hive Syrup purchased exclusive publishing rights for Canada. The adult will enjoy the descriptive footnotes—the children the fascinating pictures—many children will want to color them in. Already many thousands have their copies. The book has 58 pages with two to four illustrations on each page—pen and ink drawings of over 200 incidents—highlights in the lives of over 50 English Kings. To our knowledge there is nothing else like it in Canada.

To get your copy of this book send only 5c along with one Durham Corn Starch and one Bee Hive Syrup label... that's all... specify "King Book"—your name and address—and mail to the St. Lawrence Starch Co. Limited, to address on the labels. D15

Worked It Out

Telegram Addressed In Welsh Was Delivered To Right Place

It would be hard to find anything to beat this for efficiency. The London general post office not long ago received a telegram from Cardiff addressed to "gygwystwrt wpar wrw chira wrpar London." A Welshman was put on the job, and he translated the address into English. It meant "The Hotel with the Four Towers overlooking the Park." The post office sent it on right away to Grosvenor House. And they were right.

The late King George V. made a hobby of rearing budgerigars, the beautiful Australian love birds.

BRITAIN EXTENDS FINE WELCOME TO KING AND QUEEN

London.—Members of the House of Commons and the House of Lords lined the sidewalk in front of Westminster and cheered the King and Queen with as much enthusiasm as did a group of schoolboys on the opposite side of the street.

From their open landau the King saluted the men and women who make laws in his name and the Queen waved and bowed.

The two houses recessed for half an hour after passing addresses of welcome to Their Majesties with speeches stressing success of the Canadian-American tour.

Arthur Greenwood, acting leader of the opposition, suggested President Roosevelt would break tradition and visit the United Kingdom. Prime Minister Chamberlain, Mr. Greenwood and Sir Archibald Sinclair, leader of the Liberal party, referred to the warmth of the welcome Canada extended to the King and Queen and predicted that the tour would be drawn even closer to the British Commonwealth of nations as a result of the tour.

The same sentiments were expressed in the House of Lords by Earl Stanhope, leader of the opposition; Lord Snell, leader of the opposition; and the Marquess of Crewe, Liberal leader, who also stressed the personal triumph gained by Their Majesties.

Lord Snell called the royal tour "perhaps the most important, and certainly the most applauded, journey ever taken by a British sovereign."

The addresses of welcome were presented by Mr. Chamberlain in the House of Commons and Earl Stanhope, first lord of the admiralty, in the House of Lords, and carried unanimously by both bodies.

The visit to Canada and Newfoundland, Mr. Chamberlain said, "demonstrated in a most impressive manner not only the significance of the crown to the British Commonwealth of nations, but how loyalty to the crown in the abstract has been translated into a personal feeling of affection for Their Majesties."

"This feeling has been engendered by the simple, kindly and human qualities which we know are characteristic of our King and Queen," he said.

"When Their Majesties crossed the frontier into the United States the magnificent welcome they received from the President and the American people again out-distanced all precedents and must have delighted Their Majesties' hearts."

"I am certain that afforded profound gratification to His Majesty's subjects throughout the empire and I can speak for the people of this country when I say we have all been profoundly moved by the warmth of this greeting, which we acclaim as a personal tribute to the King and Queen and also as striking proof of the sympathy and friendship which animated the feelings of the peoples of the United States and the United Kingdom."

Mr. Greenwood said, "The visit Their Majesties paid to the United States opens a new chapter in relations between this country and the American republic. It proves that blood is thicker than water, but it proves even more the brotherhood of peoples who live under the flag of freedom and democracy."

Lord Stanhope told the House of Lords, "I said that the King and Queen would be greeted with fervent loyalty throughout the Dominion of Canada and with tumultuous welcome from the warm-hearted people of the United States, and I added that we should look forward to welcoming them on their return proud in the knowledge they had won to themselves the hearts of all those with whom they came in contact."

"I take no credit for having used those words. They were quite in accordance to describe the personal triumph which Their Majesties have achieved. They came, they saw, they conquered. And the conquest was one of which every one of their subjects may be truly proud."

Flies Escape Injury

Belleville, Ont.—Three pilots of the Royal Canadian Air Force escaped injury when a new bombing aeroplane crashed while landing at the Trenton air base. Air force officials refused to give out details of the crash. Witnesses said the plane's landing gear failed to function and the machine was badly damaged.

Of the 18 million people recently brought under German jurisdiction more than one-third are not German.

Control Of Churches

Plan Nazi Move To Secularize Welfare Agency

Berlin.—A planned Nazi move to secularize church welfare agencies and put them under control of a Nazi organization gained momentum.

Dissolution of Evangelical parish welfare societies in Wuertemberg was announced on grounds their functions already are "sufficiently taken care of" by the National Socialistic public welfare organization.

Church quarters asserted a law already has been drawn up by the ministry of interior secularizing the Catholic Caritas Society and the Evangelical home mission and placing them under authority of the Nazi agency (National Socialistic Volkswohlfahrt).

Catholic bishops have sent a letter to Hitler, according to reliable sources, announcing they would oppose strenuously a law putting their welfare organization under Nazi control.

Frau Emmy Goering, wife of Field Marshal Hermann Goering, also has attempted to influence Hitler against approving the measure, church informants stated.

At the same time Nazi circles said pressure was being brought to bear on Church Minister Hans Kerrl to resign in order to put churches under control of the ministry of the interior.

Kerrl was said to have declined, giving as his reason that he did not want enemies of the church to take his place.

Both the Caritas and the Protestant Evangelical societies perform hospital, public welfare and charity work throughout Germany. Previously they were forbidden to make street collections.

National Health Plan

Canadian Medical Association Gives Attention To Scheme

Montreal.—Any national health insurance scheme in Canada "is met at once by constitutional difficulties which are now under consideration by the royal commission on Dominion-provincial relations," Dr. K. A. MacKenzie, Halifax, retiring president of the Canadian Medical Association, said in his valedictory address.

"The problem is tremendous and complex and has implications which are still vaguely understood," he said. "The Canadian Medical Association has given a great deal of thought to the problem. The committee on economics has been active for years and much information has been gathered. The study is still being pursued vigorously."

"Realizing the immense difficulties of the problem, the association is of the opinion that no effort should be made to draft a complete plan. Health insurance is primarily the function of governments and the association is in a position to give sound advice if and when asked for."

"It is obvious that a sound scheme cannot be formulated without the assistance of the medical profession." The C.M.A. refrained from a definite stand for or against compulsory health insurance, favored further study and retained H. H. Wolfenden, Toronto consulting physician, to advise it.

French Liner Guarded

Precautions Are Taken At The Landing Of The Le de France

New York.—Extraordinary police precautions were taken at the docking of the French liner Le de France because of recent fires which damaged or destroyed several of her sister ships in France.

The line insisted they suspected no attempt at incendiarism and pointed out none had occurred in New York. Fifteen French line police boarded the ship down the bay, and about 50 police and firemen and 30 private police guarded the ship at the dock.

Gives No Answer

Washington.—While third term talk continued to come from the inner circles of the new deal, President Roosevelt parried a bluntly worded question from a reporter as to whether he could be a candidate again in 1940. He told the reporter to go stand in a corner.

Ottawa.—Approximately 32,000 members of the non-permanent active militia will receive camp training this summer, according to the schedule issued by national defence headquarters.

English Art Exhibit

Pictures Are Now In National Gallery At Ottawa

Ottawa.—The new English Art Club's first exhibition to cross the Atlantic has been opened to the public in the National Gallery of Canada here. This much alive and representative showing of 115 oils, watercolors and drawings will, it is planned, be seen in every sizeable Canadian city this year.

King George and Queen Elizabeth viewed this collection of contemporary English art in Paris on the occasion of their state visit there last year when the French government purchased several of the pictures.

Dubbed "London Impressionists" and roundly criticized for revolutionary "pursuit of the ugly" in England of 50 years ago, the club still welcomes outsiders and is far from being the closed corporation of the Royal Academy. But since its beginning more than 40 of its members have been elected to the Royal Academy.

UNITED STATES HAS BIG BUSINESS IN SALE OF ARMS

Washington.—Chancellor Hitler, helped by the Japanese military machine, has unwittingly become the greatest salesman for American products the United States has seen in many years.

He is sending business to United States at the rate of nearly 10,000,000 a month. The business is in up-to-date warplanes, machine guns, shells, explosives and bullets.

If sales continue as they have during the first five months of this year, the United States will have sold around $130,000,000 worth of war equipment in 1939, a figure unequalled since Great War days.

France and Great Britain have been especially good customers this year. Seeking to match Germany's progress in the air, they have ordered many war planes. In the first five months of 1939, France obtained export licenses for $20,997,040 worth of military goods and Great Britain $14,236,132. In May alone France got licenses for $9,492,400.

Canada has purchased $1,251,574 worth of war materials here so far this year. Australia, anxious over Japan's penetration on the Asiatic continent, placed an order for $4,270,870 worth of aeroplanes in the United States in May.

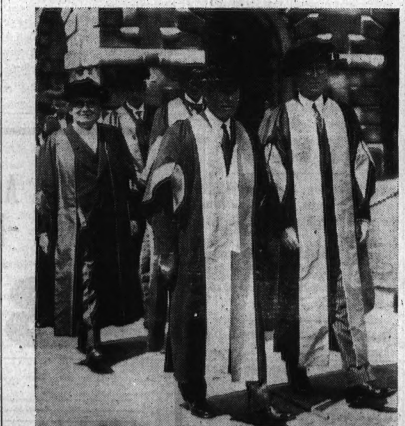

"The Netherlands Indies," with their wealth of rubber and tin, have embarked on a huge program of aerial rearmament. Thus far this year they have obtained licenses for $1,075,324 worth of materials and, mostly on the basis of licenses issued previously, imported $5,376,846 worth of such goods from the United States.

The Indies' motherland, the Netherlands, watching the increasing might of her neighbor, the reich, placed orders this year for $2,522,755 worth of war supplies.

Roumania, in Germany's pathway to the southeast, gave orders for $1,295,000 worth of grenades, bombs, torpedoes, mine and depth charges.

China, reduced largely to guerrilla warfare, has greatly decreased her war goods buying here. Last year she bought $7,219,357 worth of such goods in the United States. So far this year her purchases are $658,945.

To Curb Jews

German Protector For Bohemia And Moravia Issues Decree

Prague.—Baron Konstantin von Neurath, German protector for Bohemia and Moravia, issued a decree sharply curtailing participation of Jews in the commercial life of the protectorate and placing all their business activities directly under his control.

Under the decree Jews are forbidden to acquire or lease real estate, or to acquire any rights in such.

They are also denied the right to acquire an interest in business undertakings or to purchase stocks and bonds.

They must report to the national bank by July 31 all objects of gold, silver or platinum in their possession, as well as precious stones and pearls.

The buying, selling or pawning of these items is forbidden for Jews. Under the decree Jews, Jewish firms and Jewish organizations will be permitted to hold their rights in real estate, carry on business and hold real estate only with special written approval given by the protector.

Refugees In England

Flags And Bunting Adds A Happy Note On Arrival

London.—Flags and bunting decorating Waterloo station to welcome the King and Queen added an extra happy note to the arrival here of 287 of the German Jewish refugees assigned to England from the liner St. Louis.

Children who journeyed to Cuba and back seeking homes thought the colorful bunting was in their honor. "Look, daddy," one tot was heard to chirp in German, "the English people have decorated their station for us!"

Many of the wanderers, feeling themselves at last secure, wept.

Fall Down Foch Statue

France.—German soldiers pulled down a statue of Marshal Ferdinand Foch, French commander-in-chief of allied forces during the Great War, which stood before a barracks at Caslav. The barracks belonged to a Czech infantry regiment enlisted in France during the war from Czech refugees from Austrian rule.

A Special Session

Manitoba Legislature To Be Called To Meet At Early Date

Brandon, Man.—Premier Bracken announced a special session of the Manitoba legislature will be called "at the earliest opportunity" to implement the central mortgage bank plan provided for at the last session of parliament and designed to reduce urban and rural mortgage interest rates.

"This central mortgage bank is the most advanced step the federal government has taken in this connection in years," Mr. Bracken said in an address to the special farm convention for uniting Manitoba's agricultural forces.

The premier called on the new farm organization, to demand a "square deal." There were 700,000 farmers in Canada and if they worked together they would have a large say in the nation's policies.

"If you compose your difficulties and speak with a united voice no government will dare ignore your recommendations," He complimented delegates on their courage in drafting the constitution stating the new movement to be non-political and non-sectarian.

"What agriculture needs is not to tie itself to the chariot wheels of some political organization but to take the best from the platform of each of them," he said.

EXPRESS HOPE TIENTSIN INCIDENT CAN BE SETTLED

London.—Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, expressed hope the Tientsin incident could be settled if the Japanese government would give proof of their repeated declarations they do not aim at destruction of British interests in the Far East.

Speaking at a dinner tendered him by a political club, Lord Halifax declared: "I hesitate to believe the government of Tokyo would wish deliberately to challenge the whole position and policy of Great Britain."

Britain had no intention of allowing the British concession at Tientsin to be used for activities prejudicial to Japanese military interests, he said.

If Japan could be convinced of this and gave proof she did not seek to destroy British interests, "I should hope the matter might be capable of settlement," he said.

Lord Halifax expressed confidence an agreement between Britain, France and Russia for a mutual assistance pact would be reached shortly.

He told his audience Britain and Russia have the same objectives, adding:

"We have the conviction that we aim at the same thing, we can succeed in dispelling distrust and I am confident we shall succeed in reaching an agreement."

"We have gone further than many would have thought it right in an endeavor to find an agreement. I think if we have so far failed we can try that it has not been our fault."

Winston Churchill, who spoke before the foreign secretary, asserted no "effective stability" could be attained in Europe without an Anglo-Russian alliance.

Earlier, indication was given that the Chamberlain government wanted to see a House of Commons both on the Far Eastern situation and talks now going on in Moscow.

Mr. Butler turned down a suggestion the Moscow talks be extended to cover the Far East and declared the negotiations were concerned only with Europe.

Lord Halifax said he could discern no "fundamental change for the better" in the European scheme. The threat of new aggression to further "ambitious schemes of domination" had tipped the scales to general acceptance of wider commitments by Britain.

In the deeper sense, however, there has been no change in British policy, he said.

Mr. Churchill, former first lord of the admiralty, said Nazi "villainy" had caused the trend toward acceptance of wider British obligations cited by Viscount Halifax. Referring to the attendance of a former air secretary, Lord Londonderry, as chairman of the dinner, Mr. Churchill told the gathering:

"I have not always seen eye to eye with him (Lord Londonderry) about the Nazi movement. It is proof of the folly or villainy of the Nazi outrage upon Bohemia and Moravia that every man and woman in this country should be so united in cordial and resolute agreement."

EXPANSION OF YOUTH TRAINING PLAN ANNOUNCED

Ottawa.—Three-year youth training agreements with eight provinces were approved by the Dominion government and forwarded to the provincial governments concerned for their signatures. Hon. Norman Rogers, minister of labor, announced. The agreements provide for continuation and expansion of the Dominion-provincial youth training program on a new three-year basis.

"The province of Quebec has not yet intimated its readiness to accept the Dominion allocation for carrying on youth training but the decision of that province will doubtless be received in due course," Mr. Rogers said.

"Of the eight other provinces, all but Ontario are taking up their full share of the $1,500,000 made available to them this year. Ontario has indicated that approximately 68 per cent of the federal allocation will be required."

After the agreements have been signed, projects each province can start will be proceeded with and schedules covering those projects will be added to the main agreements.

The minister said provision for youth training forestry projects under the agreements is additional to that made through the national forestry program, for which $1,000,000 was provided last session. Separate agreements covering forestry training projects under the latter program have also been signed here and sent forward to the provinces some time ago, Mr. Rogers said.

He anticipated "about 10,000 young men will have received forestry training and employment during the present year under projects initiated or assisted by the federal department of labor."

Since the youth training program came into effect 117,912 young Canadians, of whom 70,442 were men and 47,470 were women, have been given training.

In addition to those in projects designed directly to prepare them for wage-earning employment, 31,676 attended agricultural and rural training courses and 24,258 physical training courses.

German Troop Movement

Large Forces Occupying Fortifications Opposite French Frontier

Paris.—It was reported that Germany is moving the first units of a force of approximately 100,000 men into the "Limes" fortifications opposite the French frontier, says British United Press. In addition, it was said, the crack Nazi "Condor" legion which fought in the Spanish civil war is to be initiated at Bad-Reudex, in the frontier zone, for special training.

Until recently, according to reports, only from 12,500 to 15,000 maintenance troops had been in the German fortifications. The entire line is to be completed at the end of this month, including repairs necessitated by recent floods which inundated a part of the system.

Recently acquired infantry, armored cars, light tanks and motor cycle machine gun units have arrived, ready to take over parts of the line.

Fifty to sixty thousand men began moving in to take up positions in the first lines and soon another 30,000 to 40,000 will be moved into the second line. According to border reports, Germans have lightened the frontier control coincident with the troop movements and motorized units now patrol the frontier. Travellers are subject to rigid surveillance.

Extension of the western frontier defences comes simultaneously with reports that big German troop movements are in progress toward Germany's eastern frontier, chiefly in the region of Slovakia whence Germany could strike at Polish Silesia.

As the result of reports of these German movements, it was understood, Poland has appealed to France and Great Britain to speed up deliveries of planes, artillery and munitions.

Great Britain's Frontier

On The Line Between Freedom And Naked Force

Saint John, N.B.—Great Britain's frontier is not on the Rhine nor any other geographical border, but is on the line between freedom and naked force. Sir Gerald Campbell, British high commissioner to Canada, told the Canadian Club.

"It is the line between the spirit and the sword," he said, defining democracy as "net equality but faith that every man and woman is worth while."

PROTECT THE FOREST

In connection with rehabilitation measures for Alberta youth, a draft agreement under which approximately 200 young unemployed will be given forestry training has been received by the government. The success registered in this branch of training gives reason for the hope that eventually there will be on hand sufficient trained foresters to cope with the growing demand for forest protection.

An indication of these demands is the record of forest fires from 1931 to the end of 1937. In that time, 2,240 fires burnt over an area of nearly 2,000,000 acres, of which 1,041,859 carried tree growth. This latter area if in a solid block would measure 50 miles by 44 miles. The director of forestries declares that "in northern Alberta fires originate almost entirely as a result of some form of human activity."

While funds are regrettably low for the support of a large protective organization, the training camps to date have turned out numbers of highly qualified young men who have been employed as assistant rangers and look-out men by the Alberta Forest Service. It is felt that with a body of trained men available and an improvement in financial conditions, Alberta will eventually have one of the best protected forest areas in the Dominion.

WHAT HAS SWEDEN DONE?

Kept its total unemployment to less than one-half of one per cent of its 6,248,000 people;

Kept its industrial production at a level 12 per cent greater than that of 1929;

Kept buying power stabilized; Balanced its budget and piled up a large treasury surplus;

Curbed monopoly; Raised farm prices, without raising food prices or resorting to an "economy of scarcity";

Driven down the general level of prices;

Achieved a high degree of amity between capital and labor;

Kept out of war for 124 years;

Housed all its people adequately at lower cost, practically eliminating slums;

Dramatically lowered medical costs to the people;

Preserved its forests, although timber is its largest industry (the United States is the second largest purchaser of Swedish timber);

Reduced venereal disease to "a practically irreducible minimum";

With state-supported hospitals, an appendectomy costs only $12.50 and this includes the entire hospital bill;

The average cost of electric power is two cents a kilowatt hour.—W. L. Husband, in the Co-Operative Consumer.

A city boy was out to take an inventory of a farm. He hadn't any experience in this type of work, but he managed to make a list of all the chattels and stock until he came to an animal—a goat—which he was unable to identify. So he phoned his boss, and said: "What do you call this thing that's around here with a rough coat that's worn out in spots, a white beard and a long sad face?" To which the boss replied: "That must be the farmer."—Ex.

NEWS FROM EDMONTON

(T. J. Windross)

Edmonton, June 26.—A remarkable resolution passed by the Social Credit league in Quebec last week is getting critical attention in eastern Canada as well as in Alberta.

"This league," said the resolution, "is opposed to all participation in war without or within, and opposes all manufacture of arms in Canada, for any country."

Less than three weeks before, Mr. Aberhart had been busy voicing expressions of loyalty to the King and the British empire. The resolution, passed by the organization which has Mr. Aberhart's blessing, would have the effect of it having any effect at all, of preventing Canada from raising a hand in defence of herself or of democracy would prevent Canadians from supporting her King when he is at war, and therefore cut the Dominion off from the Empire; and would prohibit manufacture of aeroplanes and armaments in the programme now under way to assist Great Britain in protecting herself from dictators' aggressions, and to carry out Canada's own policy of armament for self-protection.

Hon. Lucien Maynard, who was present representing Premier Aberhart, stood up in the convention and said he was empowered to speak for Aberhart. He denied allegations that there is any alliance between Aberhart's Social Credit and the Communist Party of Canada, headed by Tim Buck. But he had nothing to say in opposition to the resolution which would repudiate Canada's obligation to defend herself, the King and the Empire against aggression.

Steadily Alberta moves toward general elections, federal as well as provincial. Most of the Social Credit members of the house of commons met in Edmonton late last week to discuss plans to retain their seats, but when their caucus was all finished they hadn't much to say about it. They wouldn't even say, if they knew, whether they are going to line up with W. D. Herridge's so-called "New Democracy" party.

In the provincial field, Premier Aberhart continued to say practically nothing, directly, about calling an Alberta election. The government's own propaganda department took cognizance, however, of the general belief that there will be an election within the next few weeks. Meantime, Aberhart announced a five-week speaking tour; W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, announced a $750,000 roads programme; the Social Credit party's propaganda organ began a series of articles which, it said, will record the alleged achievements of the government during the past four years.

From inside the party came stories of the cabinet ministers' chief problem now—where to find seats in which they can be elected. Some of them, at least, must find new seats, because they feel that their present constituents will not elect them again. Chief among them is Mr. Aberhart himself. He has been cultivating Camrose riding carefully for the past two years and is expected to be the candidate there, if anywhere. He has reason to believe that he would not fare well in his present riding of Okotoks-High River, where constituents tried to unseat him after giving him an acclamation—and never have been able to recover the money they deposited before the recall act was repealed to save his seat.

Various political parties are getting ready for the provincial election fray and fusion of some groups opposed to the Social Credit machine is gaining ground through "Independents" named in several ridings. The fact that Aberhart fears a united force was seen in his recent attack on the Unity movement, and although the Unity movement itself has received some setbacks a wide programme of co-operation among anti-Aberhart groups is expected. The fact that personal taxation has risen 75 per cent and total levies about 60 per cent since the Aberhart government came to power is regarded by many business men and farmers as the best reason for co-operative effort against the present government.

CFAC STUDIO TO BE ATTRACTION AT CALGARY STAMPEDE

Visitors to Calgary Exhibition and Stampede will be able to see their favorite CFAC announcer and operators at work in a model studio built just for the occasion. It will be situated in the grandstand building. The studio will be about twelve feet by fourteen feet. It will be fully acoustically treated and sound-proofed. In the front will be a glass panel twelve feet long and four feet high with two thicknesses of plate glass, so that everyone will be able to see all the proceedings.

The names of the announcers, operators and programmes will be posted for ready identification. Loudspeakers are to be placed above the glass panel to convey the programmes to visitors. Inside the studio, a complete "control unit" will be installed, and all operation for all broadcasts from the exhibition will be done there. Other "network" shows will be "carried" there.

Next week we will have more news about the artists, announcers, and programmes. Watch for it.

BELLEVUE HAPPENINGS

Mrs. T. Price and Miss Erma McDonald left Friday for Rochester, Minn., where they visited Miss Lillian Price, a patient in the Mayo clinic. Word has since been received that Miss Price passed away at the hospital. Miss McDonald continued her journey to Boston and Nova Scotia.

Mrs. Gordon McIntyre, of Lacombe, is visiting at the home of her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. D. Morris.

The home of Mrs. J. Dowson was the scene of a nicely arranged miscellaneous shower on Thursday evening last, when Mr. Dowson and Mrs. Hilda Padgett, bride-elect of July. The evening was spent playing cards, following which the hostesses served a dainty luncheon. The guest of honor was then presented with a well filled basket of beautiful gifts, for which she thanked her assembled friends.

Miss Agnes Hutton left by Monday night's train for Vancouver, where she expects to reside for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Christie, of Vancouver, arrived Sunday to spend a holiday with Mr. Christie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Christie.

Misses Eleanor and Margaret McAndrew, of Calgary, are visiting at the homes of their sisters, Mrs. A. Goodwin and Mrs. B. Eccleston.

Mrs. Gordon Key, Mrs. R. Price and Miss Ruby Cousens were hostesses to about seventy friends on Monday evening in the Ukrainian hall, when they entertained at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Evelyn Price, bride-elect of July. The evening was spent playing court whist and bridge. Prizes for whist were awarded to Mrs. Longworth and Mrs. T. Smith, while bridge prizes went to Mrs. A. Coupland and Mrs. W. Alexander. The chair prize was won by Mrs. Cox, and the door prize by Mrs. Alexander.

Following cards, luncheon was served, after which the guest of honor was presented with two baskets full of gifts. Mrs. R. Shevels and Mrs. J. Price (mother of the guest of honor) assisted in opening the parcels. Miss Price very ably thanked her friends for their kind wishes and gifts. The party broke up shortly before midnight with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," and "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." Miss Price expects to leave for Vancouver Sunday, and upon arrival there will be married to Mr. Onni Norville, former Blairmore boy. Best wishes for every happiness are extended to the young couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Padgett and two daughters, Hilda and Lily, were week-end visitors to Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. William Price and young daughter, of Calgary, are house guests of the former's parents here, Mr. and Mrs. J. Price.

The election of officers for Bellevue Local Union No. 7292, U. M. W. of A., was held this week, with the following results: Contesting the presidency were Raymond Blake, George Iwasuk, William Ostrenski and James Walsh; Ostrenski was elected. For vice-president, candidates were: Chas. Droniak and Joseph Koran; Koran being elected. For secretary-treasurer, John Brooks and John Dugdale in the running; Dugdale elected. Of three candidates for the position of auditor, William Cox was elected.

The Bellevue United church held a wind-up party in the ladies' parlor of the church on Tuesday evening. Songs and games formed the entertainment. Following the serving of a dainty luncheon, Mr. Emmerson, president of the choir, presented Miss Evelyn Price and Miss Hilda Padgett, brides-elect of July, with a beautiful floor rug each, for which each in her own distinctive way thanked the choir. Both Miss Padgett and Miss Price have been faithful choir members, as well as Sunday school teachers. Miss Padgett also being organist for the Sunday school and on occasions church organist. These two members will be greatly missed in church circles, and it is the sincere wish of all they will have every happiness in their future life.

HILLCREST HAPPENINGS

Mrs. William Nettleton, of Cleveland, Ohio, is visiting her sister here, Mrs. R. Gardiner.

The local soccer eleven travelled to Lethbridge on Saturday last, where they were defeated.

Several Hillcrest residents attended the funeral of Charles Hogg at Lethbridge on Saturday. Mr. Hogg died of injuries sustained in a Lethbridge mine.

On Saturday last the local nine defeated the Elk Valley Senators 10-3 in a thrilling baseball fixture. Batteries: Hillcrest—Draper, Kubasek, Elick and Elick; Beranek; Senators—Volpatti, Halko and Travis.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gupchuk were visitors to Lethbridge on Saturday.

Mrs. Harold Richards and daughter, of Coquitlam, B.C., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Richards.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Richards and son and daughter, Bill and Mary, left Saturday by motor for Spokane.

Rev. John Wood and family were visitors to Edmonton last week.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Rev. R. Upton, of Bellevue, was making calls here during the week.

Miss Sylvia Murphy and Robert Cochrane have returned for the summer holidays, after attending high school in Pincher Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Miller, of Hill Springs, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Murphy on Sunday last.

Mrs. E. S. Easterbrook and daughter, Mrs. Redden, of Calgary, are on a motor trip to Vancouver, where they will visit relatives and friends for a few weeks.

Only 33 persons attended a meeting held in Coleman on Tuesday evening, addressed by E. O. Duke, Social Credit M.L.A. No questions were asked of the speaker, and the enormous sum of $2.20 was collected to pay rent of the Ukrainian hall, a large building, for the meeting. Mr. Duke stated to the meeting that if Coleman people would co-operate they, too, could have a treasury house, and that it would likely be located in the Antrobus shoe store.

A good story is told of eighty-five Girl Guides in Newfoundland who were without the railway ticket price to see the landing of the King and Queen. They set out to pick dandelions, 469 pounds of them, which they sold at four cents a pound, enabling fifteen of them to attend.

One of the famous treasury branches, located in Redcliff, has found business so rushing that the manager is in future to appear twice a month for the convenience of the public. Wonder if the government will expect the landlord to be satisfied with two days' rent a month?

A banker in a business slump got a temporary job as a gasoline station attendant, and a customer drawing up to the pump requested ten gallons of gas. Said the banker: "How far are you travelling?" The customer explained the journey in detail, whereupon the ex-banker said: "Don't you think you could get along with five?"

It is rumored that people of Okotoks-High River are considering hiring a special train to take them up north where they might see and hear and tell their representative, Mr. Aberhart, a thing or two. The way he has treated Okotoks-High River should be sufficient warning for the voters in any other constituency in which he might choose to run.

Some twenty-seven members of the Blairmore Fish and Game Protective Association took in the first outing of the season on Sunday last, and returned with a catch representing about a half fish a man. It was hoped to make headquarters at Walrod bridge on the North Fork, but roads north of Lundbreck were found to be impassable, so return was made to the Middle Fork bridge near Perceval's. The day was chilly and anything but suitable to the occasion. Waters were also high and considerably murky. The biggest fish weighed less than ten pounds and the smallest measured more than four inches.

The Review has been a consistent critic of Premier William Aberhart, of Alberta, and Premier Mitchell Hepburn, of Ontario, on the score of the undignified remarks they are prone to make about those with whom they do not see eye to eye. Both have this regretfully bad habit, but the latest to fall in this habit is the provincial Unity Party leader, John I. McFarland, who when referring to the co-operation proposals of the provincial Liberal party, as submitted to the Unity Council by Liberal Leader E. L. Gray, referred to them as "Bare-faced political skullduggery." That, Mr. McFarland, is hitting away below the belt, so the Review would suggest that you learn to fight fair and treat those who are opposed to you with the courtesy the people expect of one who aspires to be Premier of Alberta.—Drumheller Review.

WORLD HAPPENINGS
BRIEFLY TOLD

Britain has given haven to 44,000 German, Austrian and Czech-Slovak refugees, mostly on a temporary basis, it was announced.

The United States house of representatives stamped its approval on a bill carrying $1,735,000,000 to finance relief for the year starting July 1.

Assessment on an acreage against all oil wells operating in Turner Valley, under the Oil and Gas Conservation Act of 1938, was announced by the Alberta conservation board.

British troops aided by aeroplanes killed nine terrorists in a battle near Jericho as a fresh outbreak of Jewish-Arab strife caused 18 deaths in Haifa's market place.

A new experimental station for agricultural research may be established in central British Columbia in the near future, Dr. E. S. Archibald, director of Dominion experimental farms, said.

A drive to show the menace of cancer in Canada was forecast to the Canadian Medical Association's general council at the 70th annual convention. Public addresses will be given at various points.

Health Minister Walter Elliot broadcast an appeal for 100,000 women as nurses and ambulance drivers to bolster Great Britain's first-aid auxiliary units and to place them on a full wartime basis.

Power From Uranium

Scientist Conducting Experiments To Obtain New Source Of Heat

Frederick Joliot, co-winner of the 1935 Nobel prize for chemistry, is trying to find a way to make a $2 pound of uranium give up as much heat or power as is now obtained from burning $10,000 worth of coal. Joliot is now working independently of his wife, Irene Joliot-Curie, with whom he was given the 1935 Nobel award. She is the daughter of the famed Pierre and Marie Curie, discoverers of radium.

It has been found that when uranium is bombarded by an electrical beam made of neutrons some of the uranium atoms split in two. The neutron beams are made in various ways in laboratories.

When the uranium atoms split, the parts fly away from the metal in the form of two high-voltage particles. If enough of these particles can be produced they will form an electrical beam which can be used to operate machines.

Protection For Cars

Invents Gadget That Will Stop The Car And Catch The Thief

Pasquale Cannon, of Naples, Italy, announced that he had invented a device which would not only thwart an automobile thief but practically deliver him into the arms of the law.

The theory is that an automobile owner fixes the Cannon anti-theft box, ten inches by four, in his car and moves a hidden lever when he leaves the car unoccupied.

The thief enters. When he has driven the car 100 yards it stops and cannot be re-started. The doors lock externally and a horn blows until the police arrive and turn it off. Also a red sign appears on the car with the warning: "Stolen." It is asserted that the device cannot be short-circuited.

Cannon plans to sell his invention at 100 lire ($5.25).

Demand For Roller Skates

A revival of roller skating has taken place in the Netherlands recently. The game of "roll hockey", along the lines of ice hockey, and played with ice hockey sticks and rubber ball and on roller skates has been organized. This increased demand has led to several inquiries from Netherlands firms about Canadian roller skates.

Spontaneous Welcome

New York Paper Speaks Of Recent Visit Of The King And Queen

To us our welcome to the Royal visitors was a perfectly normal and spontaneous expression of American goodwill and hospitality. That is the way we do things here. To be sure, the welcome might have been less heart-felt if the King and Queen had not proved themselves such charming and tactful guests.

It was partly curiosity, no doubt, which brought out the vast New York crowds. But it was a genuine tribute nevertheless, and as much to the British people as to their Sovereigns. We like the British because we understand them better than most foreigners. And, after all, why shouldn't we? They gave us our speech, our manners and customs and, after a little persuasion by the Continental army, our country itself.

Germany, perhaps, will be relieved to know that our enthusiastic welcome to the British King and Queen does not mean that we are about to rush into war beside Great Britain. But it does show an ardent desire for peace and friendship, for sympathetic understanding and for the unity of two strong nations in a distracted world. It would be foolish for any nation to ignore it.—New York Times.

WIN A SLIM FIGURE BY COUNTING CALORIES

SUMMER SPORTS TOGS

Follow Tasty Healthful Diet

"With a figure like mine, better say it to revealing play suit" says the model. "I have a diet of 1,200 calories. Miss Plump—you needn't give up the play suit. Quickly start on a diet of 1,200 calories a week, and this summer be one of the slim, sports-togged lassies you envy now."

See how easily you can cut out fattening foods, substitute satisfying low-calorie dishes. At tea-time yesterday you had a glass of iced coffee with cream and sugar, 140 calories, a slice of cake, 100 calories. But what a difference if you'd chosen a glass of lemonade, only 72 calories, and a cake, 100 calories.

At meal-times, too, you satisfy hunger but shed the pounds on such fare: 1/2 cup buttered carrots; 1/2 cup green peas, a tempting salad of 1/2 cup celery, 2 large lettuce leaves and 1/2 cup boiled dressing. For dessert, 1 cup apple soup. Only 485 calories in all.

Limit your calories to 1,200 a day—and watch the pounds melt away! Our 32-page booklet gives delicious low-calorie menus for two weeks—based on protective foods. Has calorie chart, 3-day diet to start reducing, exercises, weight-building program too.

Boy Watches Firemen Drag Creek For His Body

Firemen assembled boats and grappling hooks on the shore of Soldier creek, near Kankakee, Ill.

A nine-year-old boy stood on the shore watching with great interest. "What are you doing?" he asked the firemen.

"Don't bother us, sonny," a fireman replied. "We're looking for the body of a little boy who was drowned."

"Who was it?" the boy persisted. "Adrian Lavine," the fireman answered.

"Tim Adrian," said the boy.

Consider It An Interlude

Recent Majority Of Women Have Little Business Future

Dr. Samuel Stevens, Dean of the University College at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., tossed several buckets of academic cold water on career women in business.

Whether she's a college graduate or quits school at the end of the sixth grade there's no future for the average woman in business, Dean Stevens said in an interview. "A man's attitude toward life, the Dean said, was one of the chief factors operating to keep women out of top-ranking business positions.

"Most women inevitably look upon business as an interlude between school and marriage," he said. "Almost every survey of women graduating from our universities shows that a big majority look forward to a home and family life. They are normal and healthy but it makes women an impermanent, unstable part of business personnel which employers have exploited quite generally by paying them less than men for equivalent work."

"If a woman has a sufficient number of what we commonly conceive as masculine characteristics such as aggressiveness, dominance and extreme objectivity, she can make the grade. Thank God, though, a majority of women do not possess these characteristics. You rarely find a 'feminine' woman in a position of executive responsibility."

Flies—Nobody Loves 'Em!

If Everybody Would Conscientiously Do Their Part, Flies Would Not Remain A Major Health Problem

A female house fly deposits 100 to 150 eggs at one time and, from this batch of eggs, it may be less than two weeks, in warm weather, before the winged flies emerge. It is obvious, then, how quickly they multiply unless they are ruthlessly controlled and, in any communities where they are left unmolested, they may bring a real epidemic of sickness and disease for they are carriers of typhoid and other germs. If their breeding places, which are usually out-of-doors, on garbage, manure and similar situations, could be eliminated, this would reduce the fly menace to a very minor problem but, unfortunately, this cannot be adequately done. The flies must, therefore, be prevented from carrying fifth and dangerous germs from out-of-doors onto feeding bottles, food or drink that's left exposed inside the house.

As we have already said, the most important thing is to clean up thoroughly where potential breeding places exist out-of-doors, particularly adjoining the house. To prevent flies entering the house, doors and windows must be screened. Children's cribs should be protected and all exposed food or drink covered. However, whatever is done, (and there is a surprisingly large number of people who are not interested enough to do anything) flies have a way of entering most homes in small or large numbers.

In such a case, a few Wilson's Fly Pads, put in convenient places around the house, all the time until the weather comes and the fly danger is over, will effectively stop their activities. They work quickly, cleanly and kill all the flies.

Join your fellow citizens, who believe in a safer, cleaner community for the children and public at large, by doing your part to combat and eliminate the fly menace.

It's smart to turn your back nowadays . . . when you wear a summery dress with a jaunty back-closing like this! The fun-loving teens and in fact EVERY woman who wants clothes that are comfortable, yet young and perky will be delighted with Pattern 4072. As Anne Adams points out on the large sketch, you might choose a checked cotton. Or, as shown in the background, you might have white fabric with the neat yoke, pockets and belt contrasting. Again—you might use a striped material, with vertical stripes throughout . . . except at pockets, yoke and belt where horizontal stripes would give a very decorative effect.

Pattern 4072 is available in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 3 1/2 inch fabric. Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly Size, Name, Address and Style Number and send order to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg.

Learned About Canada

New Zealanders Get Better Idea

Through Royal Tour Publicity The visit of the King and Queen to Canada provided the senior Dominion with the best publicity it has ever had in New Zealand.

Every detail of the royal tour, together with descriptions of the places visited, has been eagerly read. Newspapers and magazines published numerous articles about Canada, its people and its tourist attractions. The tour resulted in clearing away many misconceptions about Canada. New Zealanders knew little about their sister Dominion. There had been, for instance, a feeling that because Canada resembles the United States in its monetary system and in other directions, Canadians must tend towards republicanism. The warmth of the welcome to the King and Queen came as a pleasant surprise.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

JULY 2

SOLOMON: A RULER WHO BEGAN WELL

Golden text: Give thy servant therefore an understanding heart, that I may discern between good and evil. 1 Kings 3:9.

Lesson: 1 Kings 3:1-15.

Devotional Reading: Proverbs 3:1-6.

Explanations And Comments

Solomon's Wise Choice. 1 King's 3:4-9. David, the great king of the Israelites, has died and his son Solomon has been anointed his successor. His first step is to go to Gibeon to offer sacrifices. At this time the ark was housed in a temporary tent at Jerusalem, but Gibeon had the tabernacle, the ancient tent of the wanderings, in front of which stood the brazen altar for sacrifices. A great assembly was held and Solomon displayed his royal majesty by having offered a thousand burnt-offerings.

That night when the smoke of the sacrifice had rolled away and the music and noise had ceased, Solomon slept, and in a dream God appeared to him and he asked what he should give him. Recalling his father David's uprightness of heart and God's promises to him, Solomon spoke of his own ascent of the throne as a great kindness shown to his father. Then he spoke humbly of himself: "I am but a little child." It is generally supposed that he was about twenty years old at this time. "I know not how to go out and come in," he added, making use of a proverbial expression denoting that he did not know how to conduct affairs of state. With customary Oriental exaggeration he thus acknowledged his lack of experience and his realization of the greatness of the task before him. Compare Jeremiah 1:8-9.

"Admit your ignorance, and few will blame you; Pretend to knowledge, and the world will shame you."

The Answer to Solomon's Prayer. 1 Kings 3:10-15. "The dreams of good men are better than those of ordinary persons," declares Aristotle. It seems certain that the will is often only partially suspended, even in our natural sleep. Although Solomon's dream was made in a dream, we must regard it as springing from his will in some degree, and therefore indicative of his moral character. Therefore we are told that the speech pleased the Lord.

Because he had not asked for long life nor riches for himself, nor the life of his enemies, but had asked a gift to be used for his people, "God said unto him, Behold, I have done according to thy word; lo, I have given thee a wise and understanding heart."

Any Sound Does It

Spring In Central Ceylon Bubbles When Noise Is Made

Trumpeting of wild elephants causes water to bubble as it is boiling in a spring in the wilds of Panamure in Central Ceylon. This, says the Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph, was refuted in Colombo by Sir Baron Jayatilaka, Minister of Home Affairs, on his return from the spot. Sir Baron said that he had seen the spring become active with the shouting of those accompanying him. The local legend is that the elephants do not drink at the spring, which the villagers believe to be sacred, but come to it and trumpet as if in homage and quench their thirst a little farther down the stream. Sir Baron can find no reference to the phenomenon in Sinhalese literature.

HOPE FOR STUTTERERS

Miss Ruth Lewis, a member of the staff of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, writes in "Health" on a "Baffling type of speech defect due largely to emotional disturbances." Strongly advocating the prevention of stuttering, Miss Lewis gives these suggestions:

1. Resolve your child's emotional stresses wisely. Look for the causes of his emotional strain in your own life and conduct as well as his. Disarm the household by having a definite reaction in the emotional development of your child.
2. Over-stimulation of the child, especially in the language field, is dangerous for the child who shows any tendency to stutter. (This situation more frequently occurs in the case of the only child.)
3. If the child naturally develops self-consciousness, do not attempt to make him right-handed.
4. When stuttering does occur remember that over-anxiety on the part of the parents only lessens the stutterer's chance of recovery.
5. Seek advice early. Do not complacently rest on the chance of the child growing out of stuttering, the danger of his growing into it is just as great.

Immune To Cold

Young Armenian Called The Human Seal Puzzle To Doctors

Most of us envy a man like Krikor Hekimian, a young Armenian, who by his exploits has earned the title of "The Human Seal." The coldest weather has no effect on him. He discovered his immunity to frostbite quite by accident by falling into Lake Ontario when it was frozen. The land temperature was 35 degrees (Fahr.) below zero and his clothes were like boards, but he felt no discomfort.

Shortly afterwards Hekimian decided very wisely to exploit his ability, and now thousands, pay weekly to see him sitting naked on blocks below zero and his clothes were like boards, but he felt no discomfort.

Outwardly he has all the reaction of a freezing man, for his skin turns blue. But that does not prevent him smiling, signing autographs and collecting money from the crowd. Doctors who have examined him cannot explain his immunity to cold.—London Titt-Bits.

Output Of Military Planes

Says British Production Is Equal If Not Greater Than In Germany

Lewis C. Ord, general manager of Canadian Associated Aircraft, Limited, of Montreal, told the Canadian Manufacturers' Association convention that British output of military aircraft is at least equal if not greater than Germany's and "we are certainly developing more rapidly."

Mr. Ord, Canadian-born engineer who has spent many years organizing the industry in Britain, stressed the difficulties of aircraft production because it is a specialized industry.

He told the convention he believed the present piling up of air armaments could not continue very long, that it would reach a peak and then fall.

"There is not money enough in the world to keep this game up very long," Mr. Ord declared.

CHAPTER XIII.—Continued

Conrad Jordan was Gunnar's only defender. All Danavale condemned him hotly. The elders considered it a blessing that he had gone—his presence, they understood from her mother, was only a torment to the poor child—but certainly he had acted most shabbily.

"What a heel!" Sarah Lynn's young brother said. "Gosh—what a heel!"

Because of his defection, because he was the alien, the intruder in the clan, Danavale had convinced itself that Gunnar Thorwald was, indirectly, the reason for Sarah Lynn's tragic accident.

Lynn Dana and Conrad Jordan agreed to cease discussing it. The fiercest stood loyally by the ace.

"I don't see what else the boy could do, Lynn. She turned from him—she shrank from him—in horror. She begged him to go away forever; she told him repeatedly that she never wanted to see him again."

"But—in her condition—"

She begged him to go away forever.

"No; she was not under opiate; she was absolutely clear. Upon my word, I don't see how he could have acted otherwise."

Conrad Jordan went back to Tahoe to close his lodge for the winter. The man in the wheel-chair wrote to his travelling cousin:

"I cannot help feeling that Gunnar acted ignominiously. And yet—what could he accomplish by staying? If Sarah Lynn is to be helpless, what, after all, would they have in common? If I was, we must in justice remember, a plant of lusty growth; not deeply rooted. I dare say. Flying brought them together. But now—even with

How You May Reduce Varicose or Swollen Veins—Heal Ulcers

A Simple Home Treatment

The world's greatest medical authorities that took weeks to overcome can bring them back to normal size and shape in a few days.

Just get an original bottle of Moore's Venaloid at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the sore swollen veins. In a short time the swollen veins will go away and by regular use will prevent their return.

People who want to reduce varicose veins and ulcers should use Moore's Venaloid at once. It is so penetrating and so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time.

out her injury. I doubt if he could have fitted himself into our scene; eagles don't make barnyard fowls.

"They are bringing her home from the hospital in a few days. Her mother has turned over her own sitting-room to Sarah Lynn. Duncan Van Doren is a pattern of devotion, they tell me—constantly there, reading aloud, always on the job. Well, perhaps it helps a little; the test comes later, when we know whether she has a chance of more than partial recovery."

The typewriter was silent while he looked up at the pipe-rack above his fireplace, done in painstaking pyrography with unconvincing poppies painted in, and below, in rather wobbly letters, the verse:

It matters not how strait the gate,
How charged with punishments the scroll,
I am the master of my fate;
I am the captain of my soul.

The girl who had made that for him, the golden-curtled, violet-eyed, mother-of-pearl maiden who had sobbed that she would sit beside his chair all the long days of her life, had not been put to the test. If she had not died—! He wondered. It was a fragrant memory.

Mrs. Edwin Dana's upstairs sitting-room had always been a place of cozy cheer, but now it fairly radiated and exuded joyous serenity. People came into the room with rising infectious, stepping lightly on the balls of their feet. They sometimes paused outside the door to arrange their smiles.

Miss Pennington sat there, with her sewing, and young Bill ricketed in on his return from school, and her father and the older brothers came for brisk and breezy chats before or after their dinner.

Her mother and Duncan, one of the other, were always there.

"Did you ever see such devotion?" people asked, almost reverently. "If Cousin Adelaide isn't the very essence of self-sacrificing 'other-love'! And Duncan, well, if ever a fellow deserved a reward—"

Mary Dana Webster told her husband. "I loathe having to admit it, because I never could see him with a binocular, but Duncan is certainly a wonder about his mother. He is I never gave him credit for really caring, tremendously; I thought the whole affair had been motivated by the mothers. But he must care, Noddy."

Her husband turned a lathered face. "Probably does, poor kid."

"Of course, I think he's getting a great kick out of his own nobility. No, really—I don't say that cattily. It doesn't detract from his credit. But I do think he dominates him."

Self-Gunnar Thorwald, Norwegian ace, heartlessly flying home, deserting his helpless, paralyzed sweet heart; Duncan Van Doren standing by. Well, that's natural enough. And as for Cousin Adelaide, actually she gets more beautiful by the hour, and I don't believe she was ever happier in her life."

"Oh, come, now," he reached for his shaving lotion. "That's pretty thick, old girl! After all her grief and shock and—"

She stood her ground. "I can understand it. Cousin Adelaide is one of those born-to-commanders, and for the first time Sarah Lynn is obeying. Even as a baby, she wriggled away, and was a contrary child, and she wouldn't make a proper debut, and she wouldn't be engaged to Duncan Van Doren. And then she would fly, and she would marry a foreign flier. Now her mother's got her, utterly. She's just as much in a cage as those jittery canaries. She broods over her and feeds her like a baby bird in a nest."

To her husband's bewilderment she burst into angry tears.

CHAPTER XIV.

Slowly, almost imperceptibly, month by month and then week by week, Sarah Lynn improved, inching her small-like way up the hill of progressive recovery. The eminent bone specialist was delighted, the local doctor enthusiastic. She could turn her head; she could use her hands; she could have the bed tilted; the frame and the cast gave way to a grace. Joy, dewy and triumphant, pulsed through the pretty room, and Aunt Helena wore prophet's robes, swimming the gleaming lawns between the two houses.

Sarah Lynn told herself. "The inside of my mind is just like the inside of this room: it is peaceful and warm and I will keep flowers blooming in it and canaries singing and kittens playing. I won't let lightning come into my room, go into my mind because she whines and moans for me to go out and I am never going out any more!" She was always faintly smiling, and her eyes were never wide open. Her mother felt she needed mental stimulus. "Darling, now you're so marvelously improved, wouldn't it be nice to brush up on your French or review your art history?"

"It would be very nice," Sarah Lynn answered with her strange new docility. She had gained a little flesh and now her dark eyes did not overflow her face so completely.

Duncan read aloud pleasantly in a well-modulated voice which never grew bores. At least once a week he put the book down and picked up her hand and kissed it and asked her again to marry him.

"No; I couldn't do that to you, Duncan," she always told him gently. "That would be a dreadful way to repay all your kindness."

"There isn't any question of repayment, Sarah Lynn. But if you think I rate a reward—you know what I want!" His sensitive, fine-featured face would flush and his eyes mist for a moment. There was no possible doubt now as to the depth of Duncan's devotion and it gave him dignity; it actually made him seem larger. A sudden and ex-cruciating toothache sent him to the dentist one afternoon when Mrs. Dana was doing sad duty at a funeral. "I'll call Penny to come and sit with you," he said, hurrying away.

The governess sat down and put on her reading-glasses. "I don't want to go on with Mr. Duncan's book and put him to the bother of catching up," she said. "I picked up some things I've been dipping into myself."

Miss Pennington cleared her throat. "I've been reviewing my Scandinavian history a bit. Fascinating I find it." She kept her pale, preoccupied eyes on the page. "The Norse women were very advanced, I was interested to discover, from the earliest periods. Advanced, I mean to say in the sense of their position. Famous housewives understood medicine in a crude way, and had a fine position in society, and were counted almost the equal of men. Very hospitable, they were! The traits of the Norse women—"

There was an old, muffled sound from Sarah Lynn. "And the Norsemen," she said thinly. "Aren't you going to tell me about the traits of the Norsemen, Penny? Well, it's not necessary; I remember perfectly."

She began to recede in a timeless sinking. "The Norseman had a keen mind; his heart was as much steel as his sword; he loved battle and the stormy seas; he admired the strong, the brave; for the old and feeble he had no interest; for the suffering, no sympathy; the weak he despised."

Often Wrongly Used

National Flag Should Be Displayed For Patriotic Reasons Only

A bit of a rumpus has occurred in Detroit because a picket outside an automobile plant carried the American flag which got knocked down in a scuffle and trampled upon.

Of course, that was no place to carry the Stars and Stripes. No national flag should be displayed in any way whatever on any occasion except a purely patriotic one. Political parties are given to displaying the Union Jack as if their party was its champion and upholder. We have seen the Union Jack used as a cover for the chairman's table with a jug of water and a tumbler and perhaps a vase with flowers on top of it. Such procedure is utterly wrong. Nothing should ever be placed on the national flag. It should be used in the right place and times as it should be hung.—St. Thomas News-Journal.

African Tarzan

Twelve-Year-Old Native Boy Found With Tribe Of Baboons

The existence of a real-life "Tarzan" was described by Prof. R. Rugles Gates of King's College University, London. Professor Gates published a report from a colleague in South Africa, describing how a native boy of about 12 was found with a tribe of baboons. He could make only guttural sounds when alive, but was taught English by the Afrikaans dialect, the report said. Subsequently he was said to have told his experiences, relating that his food was mainly crickets, ostrich eggs, prickly pears and wild honey.

The Lonely North

R.M.S. Nascope Will Make Her Reason To Be Proud

Romance will be wedded to cold fact when on July 8th, from the Port of Montreal, R.M.S. "Nascope" turns her bows down the St. Lawrence headed, once again, for lonely Arctic seas. While the cities swelter in summer heat, chill polar winds will trail Nascope's smoke behind her, while her white wake traces a path across the heaving wastes to heavens where for many days expectant eyes have swept the horizon.

Nascope's appearance in that world of treeless hills, sapphire seas and icebergs the hue of trolls' palaces, spells relief, release, human contact and that greatest of all gifts to those in exile self-imposed—letters, papers, books from home!

Pur trader, Mounted Policeman, prospector, missionary—all whose lives call them into the lonely north welcome the Nascope's arrival as the red-letter day of their year.

The Nascope, with food, supplies and mail touches at Labrador, Northern Quebec and the Northwest Territories, passes through Hudson Strait into the Bay and visits many a strange port of call before she arrives at "Civilization"—Churchill, Man., about August 7th. Then north into the Arctic, battling frozen seas, crushing her way through the ice until she reaches Craig Harbour, the Empire's most northerly port office, around August 27th. Turning south she visits other outposts, including Pangnortung, ending her voyage at Montreal at the end of September.

All classes of mail going to or coming from people in the Arctic are handled aboard. Postal facilities in the Arctic area are widely used and last year it was reported supplies of stamps had to be increased as previous years had been depleted before the arrival of the ship. Stamp collectors the world over covet the Arctic cancellation and no inconsiderable part of Nascope's cargo is philatelic mail from all countries of the world.

This summer, with service being given the Eastern Arctic, Ellesmere Island, Baffin Island and points on Hudson Bay, all classes of mail except C.O.D. will be accepted for delivery.

Parcels posted for connection with Nascope at Montreal must be prepaid at the domestic rate to Montreal and those posted for connection with the Nascope at Churchill must be prepaid at the domestic rate to the Province of Manitoba.

May Return To Spain

Former King Alfonso Has Privilege As Private Citizen

Former King Alfonso of Spain may shortly return to Spain and reclaim his title and personal properties valued at about $2,000,000.

It is reported reliably Alfonso, who fled into exile in 1931 after a sweeping Republican election victory, is considering staying for several weeks in the summer palace of Miramar in San Sebastian and that he may shortly leave Rome for the seashore resort.

Alfonso now is privileged to return to Spain—as a private citizen—at any time he desires. General Franco restored full citizenship rights to the exiled monarch last December. Franco annulled acts of the Republican parliament of April 14, 1931, which stripped the former ruler of his titles and properties.

Results Are Gratifying

Founders Of Scout Movement Have Reason To Be Proud

Scouting in Canada continues as a major force for good in those elements building self-reliance and integrity as part of the national character. As has been often said, few individuals in their day have lived to see such lasting and commendably worthwhile results spring from their endeavors as have the founders of the world-wide organization of Boy Scouts and Girl Guides.

It is a tribute both to the character of the Canadian people and to Lord and Lady Baden Powell that within the last four years some 200,000 Scouts have passed through the senior organization, or remain actively identified with it—a record closely followed by the Guides. While in the movement itself there is the saying that "Once a Scout, always a Scout."

Inherent in both organizations are elemental truths that will hold good for all time. Honesty, self-reliance, cheerfulness, industry, team-work, and loyalty to God and man are sure foundations for worthwhile life. Under patronage of His Excellency the Governor-General at Ottawa, and national and provincial officers everywhere, both organizations are in good hands, and building daily something that Canada could not afford to remain without. These are the days to "Be Prepared"—Victoria Colonist.

Pensions For Veterans

At the end of the last financial year, March 31, a total of 80,139 war veterans were receiving pension, with an annual liability of $40,413,865, according to a statement issued by Pensions Minister Power. The number was an increase of 211 over the last financial year, but a decrease of $285,390 in financial liability.
